A Tremendous Tax-Loss Selling Opportunity

A Window in Time to Add Value to a Portfolio with both Copper and the Share Price at Cycle Lows

- Tax loss selling provides investors the opportunity to get in at a price over 65% lower vs recent $10 million private placement
- News flow throughout the winter months
- Majors continue to show interest in this emerging sedimentary copper project in Quebec
- Drilling restarted in mid-November at the Sherlock discovery – up to 2,000 meters planned
- Fully financed for 2019
- 100% owned project with no royalties and a strong management team

The Opportunity

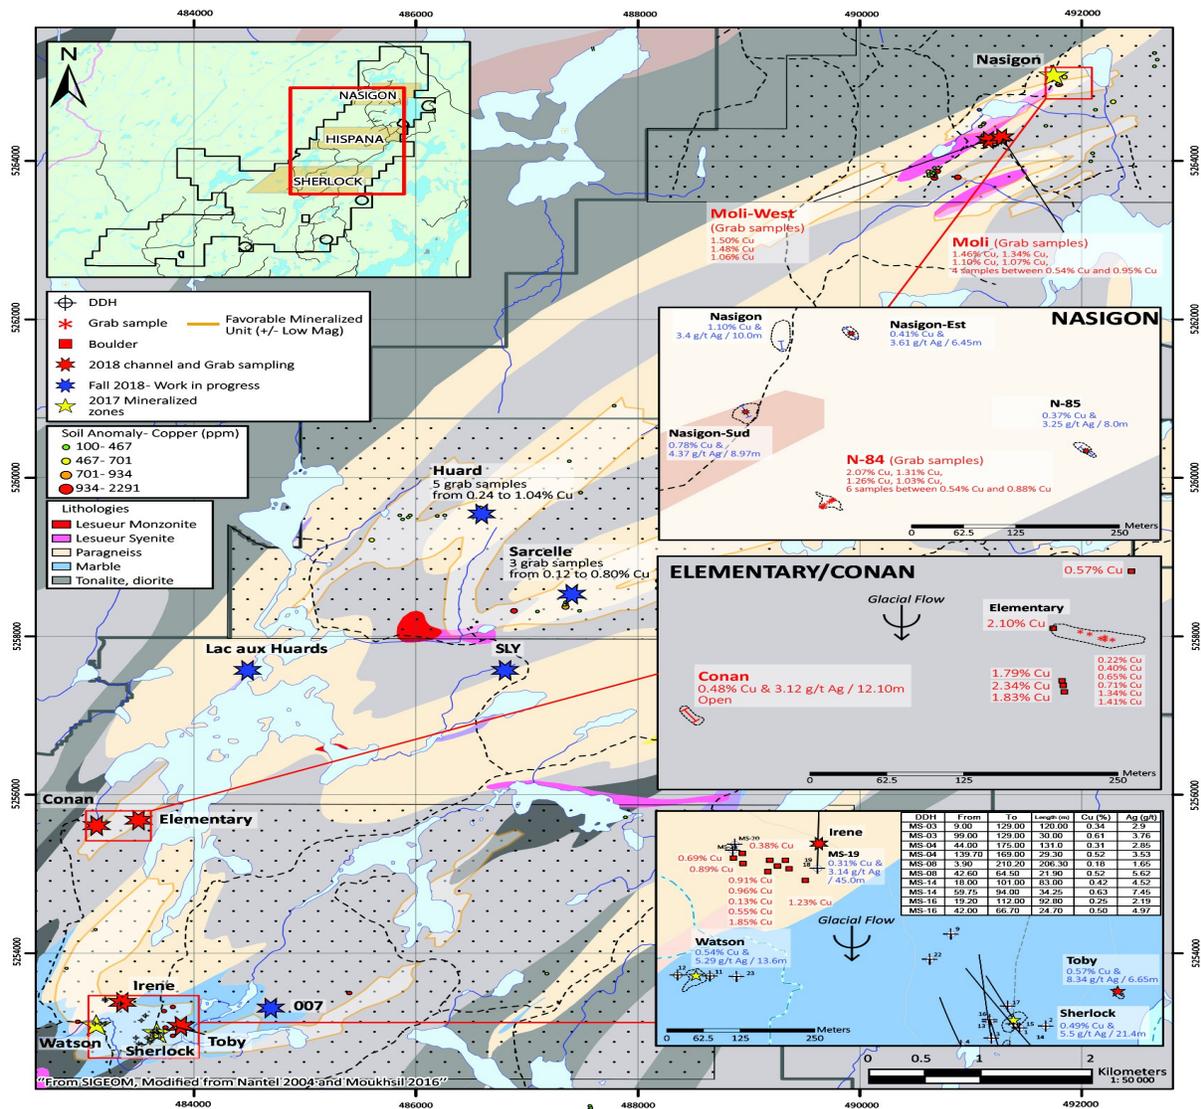

On June 27, 2018, Kintavar closed a private placement that included many of the largest funds in Quebec at $.40/share (plus $.54/share flow-through) raising over $10 million. As a result of a few large foreign groups selling shares at market over the past few months tax loss selling has accelerated and the share price today stands at $.14/share or over 65% lower than the recent $.40 share financing.

Upcoming Share Price Catalysts

Tax loss selling usually ends right before Christmas so investors have approximately three weeks to capitalize on this undervalued opportunity. In addition to the abatement of the selling pressure on the stock price, there are a few other share price catalysts over the next few months.

- Assays from the summer/fall drilling program at Sherlock including the Elementary zone and surrounding copper targets are due out within the next few weeks
- Drilling restarted in mid-November on various Sherlock area targets with assays due throughout early 2019 from the 2,000 meter drill program.

- Copper prices have been stuck in a trading range as a result of the on-going tariff wars between the US and China even though LME copper warehouse stock levels continue to plummet as shown below:
